Permanent Peace Board is On Verge of Disruption.

Ford Calls Representative Home to Explain Matters.

(By Times Special Cable.)
The Hague, Jan. 18, via London, Jan. 19.—While preparing for the proposed debate to Stockholm, where it is intended to begin sessions in an attempt to bring about the termination of the war, the Ford permanent peace board has been threatened with disruption today on account of the refusal of all of the members to proceed on the trip to Stockholm.

Of the five Americans on the board, only Dr. Charles F. Aked has announced his intention to go to Stockholm. Mrs. Joseph Pele, of Philadelphia, says she is going to England on business. Mrs. Henry Ford and Miss Jane Aked still are in America, and as nothing has been heard from them, it is assumed that the opposition here is much perplexed over the absence of news concerning them.

The disagreement developed over the alternative, Mrs. Rosetta Schweitzer, who is employed by the Ford company, has announced that she has been called to Ford for permission to dismiss John D. Berry, of Chicago, a member of whom she is now heard from on the steamer Rotterdam. Mrs. Schweitzer has been asked to dismiss Harry C. Evans, of Des Moines. The objection to Mr. Berry is that he refused to sign a statement denying President Wilson's preparedness policy. The other alternative declines to dismiss Mr. Berry.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, has been asked to go to Germany in an attempt to formulate a plan to relieve the children of the belligerent countries. The Rev. Jenkins Lloyd Jones, of Chicago, another alternate, says he is preparing to leave on the steamer Sydney on Jan. 24 for New York.

The situation as it now appears indicates that the permanent peace board for the present, except Dr. Aked, and possibly Mr. Evans, unless Mr. Berry and Mr. Jones come to The Hague or Stockholm.

Station Plaintiff, personal representative for Mr. Ford, has received instructions by cable to return to America and explain the situation to his countrymen. In the meantime, Mrs. Schweitzer is pleading with the American public to support the expedition.

Other difficulties arose over the manner of reaching Stockholm. The German government has refused to permit the party to return to their homes through German territory.

It is expected that they will leave tomorrow, creating considerable excitement. Twenty-five Americans, including Dr. Aked and the business staff, have so far been refused passage.

Louis P. Lochner, of Chicago, secretary of the peace board, has been called to the German consulate at Rotterdam, and asked him to recognize American neutrality. He refused to do so, and his wife, Mrs. Lochner, has been asked to leave the board. Mrs. Lochner has been asked to leave the board, and his wife, Mrs. Lochner, has been asked to leave the board.

NEW LANDINGS GIVE ENTENTE FORCES BIG ADVANTAGE.

No Further News of the Alleged Ultimatum.

London, Jan. 16.—From a political point of view Greece again has become a centre of great interest. In addition to the report that the Entente allies have ordered Greece to hand passports to the representatives of the central powers and their allies in the kingdom comes an assertion that British and French troops have been landed at Corfu, 45 miles west of Athens, should the latter report prove true. The Entente allies would have a point of base on the east, as Corfu is on the south, and at Corfu on the west.

A despatch from Amsterdam to the Cologne Telegram Company says: "Among the wild rumors of the intentions of the allies, is the statement that they intend to land in Greece. The Greek Government, which is pro-Entente, has been asked to maintain armed neutrality. In Sofia despatches the question is raised whether the Entente allies will do so in that event: whether they will proclaim a republic, and whether they will side with the Entente. These reports are said to have occasioned undisturbed alarm at the Bulgarian capital."

The Cologne Gazette is informed by its Sofia correspondent that the Ministry of War in Athens has been ordered to burn all the archives at the Legation in Athens, and that the Legation is falling into the hands of the Entente powers.

U. S. SHIPPERS TO THE ENEMY TO BE FOOLED

Washington Expects Goods Now Seized and Paid for by Britain Will be Confiscated.

THE BLOCKADE

Not to be Altered Except in Name, and Made More Close—British Claim Admitted.

(By Times Special Wire.)

New York, Jan. 19.—A Washington despatch to the Herald says:

So far as the tentative proposal of the Allies to establish a formal blockade of the enemy's ports is concerned, the one condition which will be understood here is that there will be no conspicuous result as affecting Americans, namely, that those crafty persons who thought to ship cargoes to Germany to obtain the war market price for the Hamburgs on the theory that the British would find them would be paid anyway, will find their goods hereafter confiscated by the Allies. It is not understood that the blockade is to be altered except in name, and that there appears to be no intention at this time to attempt the re-establishment of the usual form of blockade of battle ports. The change as Washington understands it is in name in fact. However, there is a great importance attached to this change in name.

Such physical changes as occur in the extension of the blockade will be understood in the direction of stopping up the loopholes whereby American goods are now reaching Germany. This simply means more persistent and less restricted efforts of the Allied warships to intercept shipments intended for Germany. It would not involve any change in the form of the blockade, merely more effective action.

It is clear that the British public, aggrieved by the publication of reports of the immense amounts of goods being shipped through neutral countries to Germany, is determined to stop the hands of the British Foreign Office by not permitting any exceptions allowing cargoes to pass to neutral countries which might reach Germany. If they carry their point, the British citizens will force the Government to maintain a water-tight blockade against Germany, and the entrance into any continental neutral country of any cargo which possibly could be shipped to Germany. The United States Government, in its legal battle against the Allies' blockade operations with which the degree of severity with which the operations are conducted. The United States Government, under only the legality of the principles upon which the blockade rests. However the effect of the blockade by the British public that the blockade be more drastically pressed will not alter the case before the United States.

As to the fact that goods are getting into Germany from neutral countries, no opinion needs to be expressed upon that point. The export figures of the United States show that the goods are imported into the neutral countries in many instances have increased many times their normal value since the outbreak of the war.

However, a part of this increase may be explained by the fact that the United States is the sole seller of these countries, whereas before the war they divided the market among many countries. Yet it is not reasonably to be denied that in many cases these increases are due to the fact that they can only be explained on the ground that the neutral countries have been withholding the goods to Germany.

PROOF OF BRITISH CLAIMS. For instance, Denmark, which has been known as an exporter of lead. Certainly she can supply her own needs in this commodity. Yet she exports large quantities of lead into Denmark have been multiplied beyond belief since the outbreak of the war. The British claim that the goods are not getting this lead. The circumstances cannot be explained otherwise.

The British Government now intends to have the Government stop these excessive imports from these neutral European countries. However, as explained, this increase in the severity of the blockade is one thing which will not affect the United States Government until the changes of the blockade after the legal principles involved.

It is a legal battle, in which the United States is supported by the American trade right before the Allies' blockade. And in this legal battle the one point which is at issue is the proposed change in the Allies' blockade lies in their intention to formally proclaim their blockade as a blockade in the legal sense of the word.

A Washington despatch to the World says: Reports to President Wilson from Col. House (the President's personal representative) now in London, have satisfied the Administration that within a few days a preliminary agreement has been reached that the British orders-in-council have been vacated, so that as Allied fleet will blockade Germany, and that means will be found to cut off the supplies which the neutral countries have been sending to the Allies.

Great Britain is determined to shift responsibility in part to her Allies, if the option held in official circles may be accepted. Italy, Russia, and Belgium shall bear a portion of the cost of the blockade. It is believed that the new blockade does not satisfy this Government, and seriously interfere with American shipping.

The reports, prematurely circulated from British sources, that France, Russia and Belgium were jointly responsible for interference with American trade are supposed to have been put forward by the British to pave the way for a friendly reception to the new proclamation. However the British is supposed to have come to the realization that the principal sympathy in this country is for France and Belgium, and that they may be expected to counterbalance the animosity that has been aroused against the British Government.

The Administration will be expected to greatly if all of the extensive belligerents do not issue identical blockade orders to be established and maintained by force.
